Nehru Sees No
Immediate War

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru said Monday that he believes there is unlikely to be the foreseeable future.

Nehru, 72 Monday, told a news conference:

"Internal conditions in the Soviet Union lead them to want to avoid war. They are almost a conservative country today. Less and less do they look to violence to bring about change. The Russians want peace and opportunity for development."

Gov. Appoints
Vets' Committee

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Lawrence Monday named the following to the state Veterans Commission:

George F. Brown, Bethlehem, president of the Pennsylvania American Legion.

John E. Rindin, Wilkes-Barre, Veterans of Foreign Wars state commander.

Joseph P. Pottaville, Allentown, state commander.

John J. Lema, Wilkes-Barre, commander of Pennsylvania Civilian War Veterans.

Congo Demands
Aid From UN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The central Congo government Monday demanded effective aid from the United Nations to put an end to what it called chaos stirred up by Katanga Premier Moïse Tshombe.

Justin Bomboko, the Congolese foreign minister, denounced Tshombe as a traitor who was responsible for the division of the Congo.

Bomboko addressed the 11-nation Security Council as it met for the first time since last February to consider events in the Congo. It will meet again on Wednesday.

August Racing
Seen In Phila.

HARRISBURG (AP) — Parimutuel harness racing probably will be inaugurated in Philadelphia about next August, Harris Racing Commissioner Edward Kane said Monday.

Kane made the estimate at a meeting of the three-member commission.

He said preliminary surveys of Philadelphia plant site already have been started by the Liberty Bell Racing Association, headed by James P. Clark.

Kennedy Given
Historic Scroll

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has received a historic scroll, a Torah, brought to his country a century ago by Rabbi Isaac Mayer Wise, the founder of American Reform Judaism.

The presentation was made in a special ceremony Monday in the White House rose garden before some 250 members of the Board of Trustees, wives and officials of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations.

Doctor Reports
Rayburn Sinking

By DOUGLAS R. CORNELL
BONHAM, Tex. (AP) — House Speaker Sam Rayburn, dying of cancer, lapsed Monday into increased and longer periods when his mind was unclear.

Morning and afternoon medical bulletins from his physician, Dr. Joe A. Rissler, spoke of infrequent periods of alertness.

The speaker, 79, lying in Rissler's little two-story, yellow brick hospital, also was having difficulty breathing.

Court Approves
Tax Deductions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed Monday to rule on income tax deduction possibilities for a sick lawyer who wintered in Florida on doctor's orders.

Also accepted for decision was the tax case of a businessman who went to a New York convention and resisted a tax on the cost.

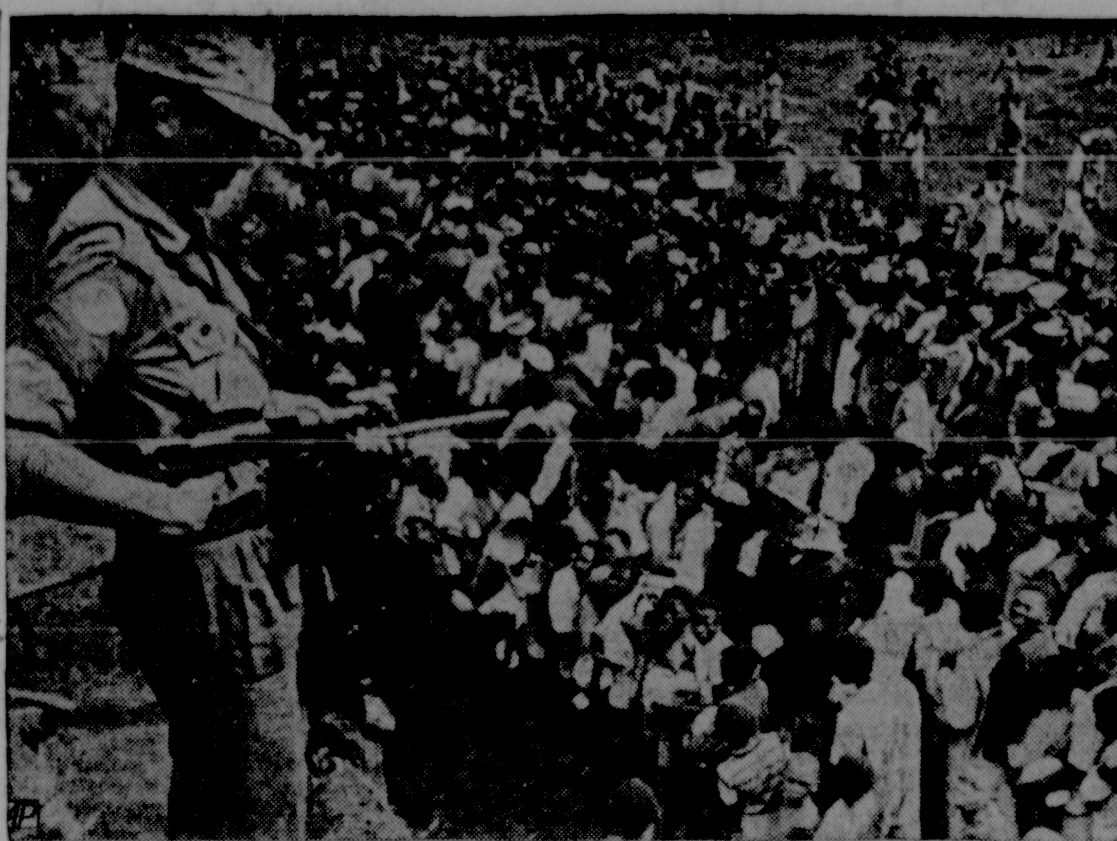

The lawyer, Robert M. Bilder of Newark, N.J., suffered a heart attack and took his wife and child to Fort Lauderdale for a winter of recuperation.

Scores Jailing
Of Alcoholics

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — American and British justice follow a cruel and futile policy in jailing drunks, Judge John M. Murtagh declared Monday.

He said enforcement of public intoxication laws "not only has been ineffective, but involves a degree of cruelty to the delinquent that cries for correction."

Murtagh is chief justice of the Court of Special Sessions in New York City.

Anthony Biddle, Statesman,
64, Dies In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anthony J. Drexel Biddle Jr., a former society sportsman who became known as the United States "multiple diplomat," died Monday in Walter Reed Army Hospital. He was 64.

The hospital said a heart attack was the immediate cause of death although he had been treated for lung cancer since his return from Madrid Oct. 12.

Biddle was ambassador to Spain—the last of a long line of important diplomatic posts.

The colorful "Tony" Biddle came from a noted Philadelphia family but he turned from society, business and sports to diplomacy. He was known as one of the world's best-dressed men and he maintained an athletic figure even in his 60s. In addition to diplomatic jobs, he served as an Army officer in World War I and II.

A statement from President Kennedy said, "The untimely death of Ambassador Biddle is a tragic loss to the nation which he served with unwavering loyalty and great distinction throughout his life. He won the affection and admiration of the international community of free men."

Biddle became known as the "multiple diplomat" when President Franklin D. Roosevelt appointed him ambassador to seven governments-in-exile in London during World War II. Biddle mastered the languages of most of the exile groups to which he was assigned—Poland, the Netherlands, Belgium, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, Greece and Norway.

He had been an Army captain in World War I, and in 1944 he resigned his ambassadorial post for a lieutenant colonel's commission. He served as a liaison officer on the staff of then Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

He remained with the Army in Europe until 1954 when he returned to Pennsylvania to become that state's adjutant general and chairman of the Pennsylvania Aeronautics Commission.

Kennedy appointed Biddle ambassador to Spain early this year and he was sworn in last April by his nephew, Angier Biddle Duke, the U.S. chief of protocol.

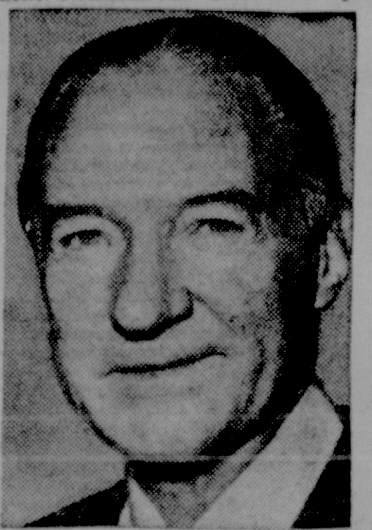

Biddle was ambassador to Poland when Germany's attack on that country set off World War II. He and his family joined officials of the Polish government in a long and dangerous flight to Romania.

Biddle was credited with helping 9,000 Americans escape wartime Europe.

Biddle bypassed college, entering business after his graduation from St. Paul's School in Concord, N.H. He was a star tennis player and loved boxing, skiing and other sports.

The funeral service will be held at nearby Ft. Myer Chapel and burial will be at Arlington National Cemetery at 3 p.m. Thursday, the State Department said. Secretary of State Dean Rusk will attend the funeral.

Biddle is survived by his widow, the former Margaret Atkinson of Moncton, New Brunswick; two daughters, Mrs. James Semans of Durham, N.C., and Miss Margaret Grace Biddle; two sons, Nicholas D. Biddle of New York City, and Anthony J. Drexel Biddle Jr.; a sister, Dr. Marko Robertson of New York City; and a brother, Livingston L. Biddle, of Pinehurst, N.C.

Committee Seeks Tightening
On Definition Of Obscenity

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A tougher definition of obscenity by the U.S. Supreme Court is necessary if mail distribution of pornographic literature is to be curbed, Rep. Kathryn E. Granahan, D-Pa., said Monday.

Mrs. Granahan is chairman of the House Postal Operations subcommittee which has been investigating the source and cause of so-called obscene mail. The group opened three days of hearing in the federal building here.

Under the most recent Supreme Court decision, she said, "if a few parts of a book can be said to have literary or artistic value, then the book is not obscene, regardless of pages and chapter after chapter replete with depravities and the vile little four letter words."

Specifically, she asserted the nation's highest court should establish stricter guidelines.

Michael A. Musmanno, Pennsylvania Supreme Court justice, told the committee that "the United States government, through its Post Office system, is running a first class sewer."

He charged, too, that some of the motion pictures shown these days "are simply horrifying in their emphasis on morbidity, degeneracy, psychopathic aberrations and extra-marital infidelity."

Musmanno suggested that if a so-called censorship board is unconstitutional, as the state and U.S. Supreme Court have declared recently, then he favors a censorship jury.

"If we allow a jury of 12 citizens . . . to pass upon the life, liberty and property of citizens, why should we not allow a similar jury, larger in number, to pass upon what should be good for children?" Musmanno said.

The justice also deplored what he called "the tons of Soviet propaganda" distributed through the Post Office, adding this material "can do damage to our defense effort" and it should be stopped.

U.S. Ground Forces Will Be Increased in Central Europe

PARIS (AP) — Western ground forces will be 25 per cent stronger than in 1940 in Central Europe by the end of this year, Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme Allied commander, declared Monday.

And Army Secretary Elvis J. Stahr Jr., reported a military buildup at home permits the dispatch of 40,000 additional men to reinforce the U.S. 7th Army in Europe. Six more divisions in the United States are ready to move instantly to any trouble spot on earth, he added.

This picture of rising Allied strength in the face of Soviet threats to Berlin was presented at the opening of the seventh annual conference of parliamentarians from the 15 nations allied in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Dirk U. Stikker, NATO secretary-general, declared that in case of an all-out nuclear attack against the alliance "the reply should be immediate with all the weapons available." He urged a "hard-boiled" attitude in dealing with the Russians, saying they want no nuclear war now either.

The emphasis on the Allied buildup, however, was on conventional forces, President Kennedy recently reflecting the views of President Charles de Gaulle, also urged a policy of firmness. He said the outcome at Berlin could determine the fate of the whole free world.

Norstad told the legislators that Allied response to a NATO appeal earlier this year had given him an improved position throughout his command, from Norway to Turkey, but particularly in Central Europe.

"Of the something more than 21 divisions," he said, speaking of this region, "until very recently the effectiveness of these forces has been scarcely more than that of 15 or 16 divisions."

German Diplomat Censured:

Kroll Recalled After Visit With Khrushchev

BONN, Germany (AP) — Veteran German diplomat Hans Kroll faces possible removal from his post as ambassador to Moscow in the backlash of his talk with Soviet Premier Khrushchev on the Berlin crisis.

Kroll is due to return to Bonn Tuesday to explain why he made what the government called unauthorized proposals on the future of the divided city.

Foreign Ministry press chief Hans Hille told a news conference Monday that Kroll's future will be decided after the government hears his side of the story. Kroll has been in Moscow three years.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, who flies to Washington next week to confer with President Kennedy, personally ordered Kroll's return.

Khrushchev last Thursday summoned Kroll to a long private meeting at which the Soviet leader asked him for his ideas on how the Berlin crisis might be resolved.

Hille said Kroll made at least two proposals that do not represent the West German government's position. However, government press chief Felix von Eckardt granted at the news conference that Kroll told Khrushchev more than once that he was expressing his own opinions and not those of his government.

Hille said the two proposals corresponded with what press reports from Moscow said last week were a new Soviet plan for ending tension over Berlin. The Western Allies insist they have received no new proposals from the Kremlin.

He said the two proposals were: 1. A four-power agreement on the status of West Berlin and access to it from West Germany. The agreement would be reached in advance of a German peace treaty. The Soviets have been insisting on a German peace treaty first. They have threatened to sign a treaty with East Germany, which would give access controls to that Communist regime.

2. An arrangement between the Soviet Union and Communist East Germany to guarantee the agreement.

The proposals are in conflict with the West German position that the status of Berlin and its routes to the West already are covered by the agreement reached by the Allies at the end of World War II. Bonn also holds there is no need for guarantees from East Germany, whose existence it and the Western Allies do not recognize.

The news conference deepened the mystery of whether Kroll committed a major indiscretion, or if the affair represents a new turn in West German policy on the Berlin issue.

Observers speculated that West Germany may be looking for a way out of an unbending position which makes the opening of new East-West negotiations difficult. Under that view, the Kroll affair could represent a trial balloon to test public reaction to a more flexible German policy.

Philippines Presidential Race Today

MANILA (AP) — Filipinos vote Tuesday in the fifth presidential election of this young republic after a bitter and violent campaign that took an official toll of 22 lives. More than 16,000 police constabulary and army troops were ordered out to guard the polls.

President Carlos P. Garcia of the ruling Nacionalista party is seeking reelection. He is opposed by Vice President Diosdado Macapagal of the Liberal party.

Both wound up grueling campaigns predicting victory. Observers predict it will be the closest race in the 15-year-old history of this island nation of 27 million population.

About seven million of the nearly nine million registered voters are expected to cast ballots. No definitive trend is expected before Wednesday because of the difficulty in communicating with the many remote towns and villages in the archipelago.

The outcome will not change the Philippines' pro-Western foreign policy. Both Garcia and Macapagal are committed to a pro-American, anti-Communist stand.

U.S. military personnel and their dependents were instructed to remain at their bases throughout the election for safety reasons, and to avoid possible involvement in election incidents.

In seeking a second four-year term, Garcia, 65, campaigned on the issue of economic nationalism aimed at eliminating alien control of business in the Philippines.

There are large American holdings in the country, but much of the nation's wealth is controlled by Chinese residents who are not citizens.

Macapagal, 51, contends Garcia's Filipino-first policy has benefited only a few close Garcia associates. He claims the country is bogged down in graft.

Political Parties Eye Likely
Pa. Gubernatorial Nominees

WASHINGTON (AP) — Politicians are sizing up some of Pennsylvania's congressmen as possible candidates for governor next year. And even as possible nominees for United States senator.

Democrats and Republicans alike are included in the speculation after the statewide GOP triumph a week ago.

Two Republicans are getting the most attention — James E. Van Zandt of Altoona and William W. Scranton of Scranton.

Both are considered top choices for either governor or senator.

It has been reported without confirmation that former president Eisenhower, the squire of Gettysburg, is trying to convince Scranton to seek the Senate seat now held by Democrat Joseph S. Clark Jr., of Philadelphia. Clark has announced he will seek a second term.

Van Zandt, former national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, is highly regarded for the gubernatorial nomination.

Another Republican congressman mentioned for governor is Rep. John P. Saylor of Johnstown. On the Democratic side, talk centers only on the gubernatorial nomination since Clark appears to have little opposition to get the party's nod to run again.

Rep. Thomas E. Morgan of Fredericktown, chairman of the important House Foreign Relations Committee, is being urged to throw his hat into the gubernatorial ring.

Chances are, however, he will decide to remain in the House. Particularly since the voters last Tuesday rejected a constitutional amendment that would have permitted a governor to be elected to two successive four-year terms.

By sending the note to Russia and requesting another round of talks, the United States and Britain followed up their own resolution, accepted in the U.N. General Assembly by an overwhelming vote, and urging a test ban treaty. Washington, officials added, is aware that the Soviets not only voted against this resolution but declared emphatically that they would talk about a test ban only in the framework of the much broader and infinitely more complicated issue of general disarmament. This is a position the West has refused to accept.

There were conflicting reports about the 50-megaton Soviet bomb. Some said that it was extremely "dirty," as the fireball touched the ground, sucking up considerable quantities of earth. Others contended that it was a relatively clean bomb.

Discontinued When Soviets
Began Atmosphere Testing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Britain urged the Soviet Union Monday to return to the Geneva conference table and resume the nuclear test ban talks which ran around nearly two months ago.

There was little, if any, hope that Moscow will accept the invitation. That the chances are slim was indicated last week by Valerian Zorin, chief Soviet delegate to the United Nations, who said a test ban treaty must be worked out within the framework of general disarmament.

The three-year-long tripartite talks were recessed Sept. 9 to give the U.N. General Assembly a chance to discuss the issue.

The U.S. note said the world organization has completed its debate by adopting a resolution calling for resumption of the talks.

Therefore, the note went on, the United States proposes that the discussions should continue starting Nov. 28, or on any other date agreeable to the Soviets.

The Geneva talks became stalled when the Russians resumed testing in the atmosphere on Sept. 1.

Since then Russia has exploded more than 30 nuclear devices to what the State Department called "the single most intensive testing program in history." It included 5 and 55-to-60 megaton super-bombs — the mightiest ever touched off.

On Sept. 5, President Kennedy ordered the resumption of underground U.S. tests, which do not contaminate the air. The first American bomb was exploded on Sept. 15, followed by a few others, at least four. Kennedy has ordered preliminary preparations made for resuming atmospheric tests.

A U.S. statement issued Monday together with the text of the note—which was delivered to the Soviet Foreign Ministry in Moscow—said that while this country still is determined to sign a pact banning further tests, the United States will pursue its own program of carefully circumscribed testing until such an agreement is reached.

This refers to two things, officials explained: (1) To the current U.S. underground tests, and (2) to the possibility that the United States will resume testing in the atmosphere.

The words "carefully circumscribed," mean, these officials said, that even if the United States follows, however reluctantly, the Soviet example with exploding bombs in the atmosphere, this will be done with utmost caution to reduce the danger of nuclear fallout.

Man, 59, Dies At Car's Wheel

BELLEFONTE, Pa. (AP) — A 59-year-old York man died at the wheel of his car yesterday while driving through this community with his wife and father.

Bellefonte police identified the man as J. Preston Falker. When he was stricken his car ran into a curb. His wife, Myrtle, 61, jumped from the car to summon aid. As she started to climb back in, Falker's foot apparently trapped on the car's accelerator, causing it to speed across the street and crash into a store.

Mrs. Falker was thrown out of the car and received a broken collar bone and a scalp laceration. The dead man's father, W. W. Falker, who was riding in the back seat, was not injured.

He is majoring in elementary education in college and is a graduate of Hollidaysburg Joint Community High School and also the Altoona School of the Bible.

Beck, who hails from Altoona, is on the Dean's list at East Stroudsburg State College.

BLUE CROSS

QUESTION OF THE WEEK . . .

- Q. My commercial hospital insurance was cancelled after my daughter's long, expensive hospital stay. Had I had Blue Cross-Blue Shield, would they have cancelled, too?
- A. Blue Cross-Blue Shield never cancels because of physical condition, age, or number or size of hospital bills. Another unique advantage is that you may continue protection when laid off, retired, or leave the area.

In all things, MODERATION

In every code of social conduct the civilized world has ever known, over-indulgence of physical appetite or abuse of privilege has come to be recognized as harmful to the individual, and through him to the society of which he is a part.

The constant goal of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, within its regulatory powers established by law, is the encouragement of moderation. Such a sensible approach is urged both upon the individual citizen, and also upon those who serve the public in any capacity.

'Tropic' Exiled By Schwartz

HENRY Miller's controversial novel "Tropic of Cancer," which deals deep in filth and obscenity has been "exiled" from Monroe County.

Although no official ban exists on the literature, copies will be scarce. Northampton County recently banned it, while Lehigh let it up to the readers.

East Stroudsburg newsdealer Sumar Schwartz returned 600 copies of the work to its publisher in New York City.

Describing it as a "lot of filth," Schwartz said he happened to read part of it when an employee called his attention to the book.

"I don't want to set myself up as a censor," Schwartz conceded but he felt the welfare of the community would be endangered by it.

He said he did not mind if adult obtained the book, because of their maturity, but did not want teenagers to read it's pages of vulgarities.

Two Pages Enough
"I read only two pages, but that was sufficient for me not to let it go on the rack," he said.

Schwartz said he believes the novel remains on sale in some stores due to the "large demand caused by controversial publicity. The newsdealer, the only one in Monroe County, does not handle hardcover volumes. He did distribute paperback editions before the voluntary clampdown.

It is believed that a few, if any, of the hard cover works are being sold in the county.

The Monroe County Public Library in Stroudsburg does carry "Tropic" but it is not on the open shelf.

Few Requests
Mrs. Elizabeth N. Kane, public librarian, said she had a few requests from adult readers.

By removing it from the open shelf, Mrs. Kane said teenagers cannot get to read it in the library.

In one particular case, she said a woman reader requested the book then returned it and said she "didn't know what Miller was talking about."

The library purchased the book in August.

The controversy over Miller's

Township Aides' Convention Today

THE 55th ANNUAL convention of township officials of Monroe County will be held at the Pocono Township Fire Co., Tannersville, starting at 6:30 p.m. today.

A dinner will precede the business meeting, which will be addressed by various state and county officials.

The program will open with the reading of the minutes by Edward C. Hess, secretary and the report of Stanley C. Newman, treasurer.

Scheduled to speak are Victor A. Cesare, District Five engineer for the State Dept. of Highways; Vincent Brady, district township engineer for the Highways Dept.; Joseph Churnock, assistant district engineer; John R. Lesoine, chairman, Monroe County Commissioners; Van D. Yetter Jr., Monroe County representative in the State House of Representatives; Roger W. Stoy, township administrator, State Highways Dept., and H. A. Thomson, state secretary of the supervisors association.

Officers of the group, in addition to Hess and Newman, are Harold E. Albert, president; Sterling R. Schoonover, first vice president; Russell Weckheiser, second vice president; Albert, delegate to state convention and Schoonover, David Price and William F. Halterman, alternate delegates.

New officers will be elected at the meeting.

Accident

ONE person was hurt in a one-car accident at Eighth and Monroe Sts., Stroudsburg, at 4:15 p.m. yesterday.

Borough police said a car driven by Rhoda E. Weitzman, 29, of 520 Lindberg Ave., Stroudsburg, was traveling north on Eighth St., when the driver discovered her breaks were not working.

Police said in an effort to avoid a car stopped in front of her, Mrs. Weitzman swung her vehicle to the right, knocking over a parking meter and stop signs and coming to rest against a tree.

A passenger, Morris Goodman, 69, of 1975 84th St., Brooklyn, received a severe bruise of the forehead when he struck the windshield. He was advised to consult a physician.

Another passenger, Mrs. Weitzman's daughter, Cindy, four, escaped injury. Total damage was estimated at $200.

His Democratic opponent, Tom E. Breslau, received 798 votes. In Stroud Township there are only nine absentee votes to be counted.

The unofficial count showed a one vote margin between the two candidates. It was posted Breslau received 236 votes, instead of the official 226 votes, in Eastern Middle District of Stroud Township.

Reasonable Rates?

Perhaps you thought the U. S. Government was hard up for money, what with the $7 billion dollar deficit and the sad admission that the New Frontier "can't" consider needed tax reform next year.

You'd never know it though, from the antics of the Community Facilities Administration. This outfit, one of the lesser-known Federal agencies grouped under Dr. Robert Weaver's Housing Administration, is empowered to lend up to $650 million for public improvements to communities which can't borrow from private sources at "reasonable rates of interest."

Charleston, W. Va., needs a larger sewage system, and it called for bids on $4 million worth of bonds to finance it. A number of lenders bid on the bonds, and the lowest bid was 3.945 percent interest.

The Community Facilities Administration decided this wasn't "reasonable."

So it offered to lend Charleston the $4 million for its sewers at an interest rate of 3.375—about six tenths of a cent less. The city then threw out all the bids of private lenders, and grabbed the Federal money.

Well, of course, it's nice that Charleston will save a little money, but what about the rest of us?

The money that the Federal Government borrows now costs it more than 4 percent. This means that the Community Facilities Administration will be carrying this bond issue at a loss of more than $20,000 a year, plus all those high housekeeping costs that Washington is famous for.

So what the Community Facilities Administration considers a "reasonable" interest cost is one so low that the lender loses money on it. And as the lender is the poor taxpayer, that means you.

So, as things stand, Charleston's new sewage system will be paid for in part by millions of Americans who will never pull the plug of a bathtub in Charleston.

Opinions Of Other Editors

Russia At The Khyber Pass

In the Anglo-Russian Convention of 1907, Russia and Britain agreed to refrain from attempts to dominate Afghanistan. The two nations thus recognized the Afghan kingdom as a buffer state between British India and imperial Russia.

The recent break in relations between Afghanistan and Pakistan may spell an end to the former's middle position between two power blocs. Rawalpindi has closed Afghan consulates and trade agencies in Pakistan. As a result, Afghanistan has stopped receiving imports through Pakistan ports, including large amounts of United States aid materials. The United States has now failed in a mediatory effort to arrange the resumption of Afghan trade links with the non-Communist world. Washington faces the prospect of terminating much of its aid program to Afghanistan or transporting aid material for Afghanistan through the Soviet Union.

Facilitated by Soviet military and economic aid, Russian influence in Afghanistan has been growing in recent years. The new situation is one that automatically draws Afghanistan still closer to the Russian orbit. If Moscow now acts to invalidate Afghanistan's traditional buffer status and moves the zone of Russian domination to the Pakistan border, tension will be seriously heightened. The frontier area is already disturbed by Afghan agitation in favor of autonomy for Pathan tribesmen in northern Pakistan. Russia at the Khyber Pass—a goal the czars sought but never attained—would be a new and unwelcome development on Pakistan's frontier.

Retrenchment On Capitol Hill

Harrisburg — Retrenchment is the order of the day among top Democrats holding the ramparts of Pennsylvania's Capitol Hill.

In a sense it's a rather striking scene—striking from the standpoint that self-assured "on the way up" donkey riders heretofore had cloaked themselves in a somewhat arrogant air of invincibility.

What happened a week ago at the polls punctured that cloak. Midnight oil has been ordered—in quantity—in a determined effort to help shore up leaking Democratic defenses.

None are denying that Pennsylvania's citizenry upset their precinct last Tuesday. By the same token no one is nit-witty enough to conclude automatically that Tuesday's fracas portends a corresponding demise for Pennsylvania Democrats at the polls in next year's critical gubernatorial legislative hoodwink.

Last Tuesday was by no means complete disaster for Keystone State donkey riders—but the results which saw a surprising number of local offices including municipal majority posts go Republican (to say nothing of the State Supreme Court seat), have indeed shattered the complacency of most top Democratic old pros.

Thus retrenchment, looking toward next year, is the order of the day.

Here are some of the "irritating" factors now being heavily pondered as a result of that "incident" a week ago:

Item. Local elections such as last week's affair are classified by the old pros as "off year" elections—with only a light voter turnout ever expected. Generally they are classified as of little relative importance insofar as the big statewide or national pictures are concerned.

Last Tuesday there was only one statewide contest on the ballot—the special election to fill a State Supreme Court post. But—Pennsylvania Democrats in losing that one statewide contest found that perhaps it wasn't so off-yearish after all for the rather amazing fact is that there were only around 400,000 fewer votes cast in last week's Supreme Court race than in the less than 4,000,000 votes counted in a similar Supreme Court race in 1958—a gubernatorial election year at that!

That was the year Democratic gubernatorial candidate David L. Lawrence successfully squeezed into office (by a 76,083 majority) with a GOP registration edge of 217,666.

On the other hand this year's statewide Supreme Court contest saw Keystone State Democrats walk into the fray with a registration edge over their Republican rivals of 155,639!

Item. Was the outcome of last week's lone statewide contest, and for that matter a number of the mayoralty contests, a slap at the Democratic Lawrence Administration?

On this score it should be remembered that virtually the entire campaign conducted by both Mr. Lawrence and administration aides was done so almost exclusively on the "lofty" level of "administration programs and accomplishments"—not on the fire-breathing political give-'em-the-whore level. This was laid on the line repeatedly—whether it concerned the statewide race or the host of local mayoralty contests, particularly where Democratic incumbents were involved.

Item. Undeniably and unquestionably the crucial strength of the so-called "upstate" or non-big city vote was clearly and clearly demonstrated once again—areas where voting is most independent and where Pennsylvania Democrats historically and currently are weakest.

Retrenchment and reappraisal are not only in order for Pennsylvania's top Democratic old pros—it's a "must" if they hope to emerge on top next year, the great Philadelphia Green lutes notwithstanding!

The Allen-Scott Report

Peril Seen In Underwater Tests

By ROBERT S. ALLEN And PAUL SCOTT

Washington, November 14—Russia's stupendous 50 megaton-plus atmospheric explosion got headlines throughout the world, but another, considerably smaller nuclear test is being studied far more intently in U. S. military and scientific quarters.

This was a little-noticed 20-megaton underwater blast in the Barents Sea at a depth of around 2,700 feet.

That detonation, equivalent to 20 million tons of TNT, is the most ominous threat that has yet developed against our steadily growing fleet of nuclear-powered Polaris submarines.

Following are some of the sinister details that can be published regarding this profoundly disturbing Soviet test:

It was one of four underwater tests definitely detected by U. S. and other sources. This is the first time this information has been disclosed. Previously, only the 20-megaton explosion was reported.

The Barents Sea detonation generated tidal waves 10 to 25 feet high as far as 100 miles distant, and 4 to 6 feet miles away.

An Allied submarine on reconnaissance 100 miles from the blast was violently shaken by it. The sub sustained some damage, but not sufficient to impair its operation. Had it been closer to this tremendous detonation, the underwater craft might not have survived.

U. S. military and scientific authorities are viewing this nuclear development with gravest concern.

It holds the direct menace not only to subs but islands and coastal regions.

The latter is graphically summarized in an Atomic Energy Commission report to the Joint Congressional Atomic Committee, as follows:

"Water waves produced by high-yield nuclear detonations could be of appreciable magnitude hundreds of miles from a deep underwater burst. A 50-megaton burst at a depth of 2,700 ft. would generate wave heights from 20 to 50 ft. at a range of 100 miles, and from 5 to 12 ft. at 400 miles."

"A 100 megaton burst at 4,000 ft. in deep water would generate wave heights of 25 to 70 ft. at a range of 100 miles, and 3 to 7 ft. at 1,000 miles. For lesser burst depths the waves would be of lesser magnitude."

What this means is that 50 or 100 megaton depth bomb exploded off a coast would not only destroy submarines in that area, but also wreck terrible destruction on land by immense tidal waves. Islands and coastal cities would be devastated by such surprise attacks.

Unanswered Questions — This fearsome underwater threat casts new light on Premier Khrushchev's boasts about destroying nuclear submarines if found in Russian waters.

Prior to this series of nuclear tests, little attention was paid to the Kremlin czar's blustering. But that is now being viewed with utmost seriousness. The Reds have grimly demonstrated they can make good on these threats.

This was starkly stated by Assistant Defense Secretary Paul Nitze at a national strategy seminar in California, as follows:

"Let us suppose we are relying upon 20 Polaris submarines under the ice-cap for part of the invulnerable component of our deterrent force. Let us say that one day we wake up to find that four of the Polaris subs don't report. It is unlikely that such a loss would be an accident. But does it justify reprisal against the Soviet, and if so, what kind?"

Nitze did not answer this somber question. Neither has anyone else.

That the question is extremely pertinent is indicated by the tragic loss of that RB-47 reconnaissance plane the Russians shot down in 1960 more than 20 miles from their coast.

Two surviving crewmen were finally returned early this year, after President Kennedy took office. But the fate of the other six airmen has never been positively established. On Air Force records they are listed as "Missing. Presumed dead."

Six Polaris submarines, with a total of 96 nuclear-armed missiles, with ranges up to 100 miles, are now on "battle station." Some of these subs are off the northern coast of Russia within firing range of major military and industrial targets.

Fallout—Russian Ambassador "Smiling Mike" Menshikov, who has been airily poo-pooing the dangers of radioactive fallout from his country's massive nuclear tests, joked about the subject at a diplomatic reception in his ornate embassy. When he noticed a guest was not partaking of the lavish supply of vodka, Menshikov laughingly chided, "You ought to drink it. It's good for radioactivity."

... Don't be surprised if the new member of the so-called "atomic club" (countries with nuclear weapons) is a small nation. It is definitely known this country has gone far in developing a nuclear bomb, and may conduct tests in a few months. ... Navy officials were startled by Secretary of State Rusk's surprise visit to the Polaris submarine command headquarters near Norfolk, Va. He arranged that through Navy Secretary Connally, and appeared at the center on a few hours' notice. Rusk was shown around the highly secret installation, and evinced great interest in its operation and all-important facilities.

Geography Needed

When one talks to young people, these days, he discovers a total lack of knowledge of geography in them. We are told that the world has grown smaller and that we all know each other better. But without a knowledge of geography, it is hardly possible to understand what is going on.

For instance, most of us who talk about nuclear fission and fallout know nothing of the Arctic Ocean which lies between Canada and Soviet Russia. It is on the Russian side that the big bombs are being exploded.

Novaya Zemlya, where the detonations are taking place, is an island which lies on the Kara Sea which is part of the Arctic Ocean. The reason for using this place is that it is so far that the clouds containing Strontium 90 and other products of a 50 megaton bomb detonation are not likely to flow over Russian territory, although such clouds would cross the Arctic Ocean and fall out over Greenland, Canada and the United States.

Even if the winds changed, only the sparsely settled Eastern Siberia and Mongolia and North China would suffer severely. The heavily settled areas of Soviet Russia are not likely to be affected, although that too is possible.

Geography is inevitable. The Arctic Ocean is where it is and no politics will change its position although engineering has made it possible to fly across the North Pole without difficulty. In fact, such flights are constantly taking place and missiles will be hurled over the North Pole in due course.

But the most serious geographic factor that faces us is the Ice Cap which lies in the Arctic and which, if it melted, would raise the waters of the oceans and rivers and produce in some areas a flood which would make Noah's look like a Hollywood swimming pool. Weather would everywhere be changed in due course and until a new balance of nature established itself, the Earth, as we know it, would cease to exist.

No nation would deliberately undertake the smashing of the Ice Cap because no devastation would be free from its devastation. In fact, Soviet Russia could be the first to suffer, particularly as its rivers run north and south.

However, Soviet Russia is detonating mighty weapons close to the North Pole and no human being can, at this moment, foretell what the effect of such explosions can be on the ice.

I was recently told by a young student that Soviet Russia is courageously speeding up time to effect vital changes. It is one thing effecting vital social and political changes; it is altogether another attempting to interfere with the balance of nature.

In fact, a fundamental change in weather can eliminate civilization altogether. Where once mighty dinosaurs ate the tops of date trees, is now arid, desert land. And where mighty icebergs once moved southward is today warm country. But during the centuries of these changes, civilization rose, fell and disappeared and men suffered greatly.

So while we are all excited about the fall-out, let us keep our eye on the map of the Earth and watch what happens to weather, water, and the rise and wearing down of mountains. For the surface of the Earth does change; new mountains appear and old ones are eroded and islands in the sea sink.

If these events occur slowly and in some orderly system, they, at worst, produce local cataclysms, but when man begins to play about with the balance of nature, he is likely to provide major catastrophes which may never be corrected.

The 50 or 100 megaton bomb is too devastating for any use. They are too destructive. The effects of such destruction could be more harmful than we presently conceive.

Politicians seek solutions to immediate problems, but nature does not deal with the immediate. It does not wait for an Election Day to determine its course. An earthquake can bring a mighty nation to its knees as no army can; a tidal wave can cause industrial areas that cost billions of dollars to create, to disappear in a few hours.

When mighty missiles are exploded at the Ice Cap, the consequences are not foreseeable immediately. It could destroy the Earth in due course by drowning all that is on it.

Perhaps Khrushchev never studied geography as most of us, in this era, have not.

Quiet contemplation is difficult to attain when you are financially harried. Pressure for a dollar is tough pressure indeed.

That is why we suggest a Northeastern National savings account. Not just for the good things it can buy and build for. Not just for the practical consideration of having dollars that are always safe, always immediately available and always working (earning you a firm, regular full 3% interest). But, equally, for the ease of mind and spirit, the refreshing sense of security, the absence of fear for the future, that a Northeastern National savings account can bring.

Display Advertising Copy DEADLINES

Advertising copy deadlines, just as news copy deadlines, are necessary . . . in fact, are imperative to the publication of a newspaper.

Enforcement of deadlines makes it possible to give readers a better newspaper, delivered on schedule. A better newspaper, promptly delivered to all sections of the trading area, means a better advertising medium.

It follows that adequate time for the proper handling of advertising copy, without interference with the mechanics of news production . . . and without jeopardizing the "on time" delivery of the newspaper . . . permits the better handling of advertising copy to work to the advantage of the advertiser in a better advertising medium.

In the interest of better serving ALL advertisers, all copy for display advertising, including classified display, must be in the advertising office prior to the hours specified below:—

Testing Floor stunned the Welders with a 935 first game, following through to sweep the arc boys and replace them in second. Frank McNamara's 221-213-594 sparked the winners, supported solidly by Larry Zaccaro's 207-561 and Pat Neffue's 201-540, while the stone cold losers mustered not a 500.

Office outlasted the Outside Gang in a cliffhanger, with Capt. Andy Secor's closing four-timer in the finale leading to a 214 and a 3-1 decision. Sub Jim Owens added a 519, while Bill Metzger pitched a 504 for the Gang.

Material Control swept the improving Engineers, as Harold Burkholder was the whole show with a 571 in the anchor spot. Capt. Tom Conway gave it a go with a 512 for the losing quint. Shop eked out a tough first and third to cap all four from the Draftsmen. Vince Shafer powered the former with a 531, aided by Capt. Bill Dunbar's 211 middle game. Sub F. Campbell led the bluprinters with a 508.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

If you keep going long enough it seems as if you catch up with most of the programs but you can seldom catch up on table decorations. Except that's exactly what I did yesterday when I recognized the Soroptimist centerpiece at the Woman's Club tea from my own description. However, like the programs, it was well-worth repeating.

Which reminds me that the Soroptimists are going in for surprises in a big way this winter. Last time, they were instructed to bring aprons, scissors and a quarter. Next time is a little easier to guess. For the meeting at Strickland's Mountain Inn, they're supposed to bring bathing suits.

Also worth repeating were the homebaked cakes featured at the Woman's Club tea — and you can, too, tell the difference. The program yesterday was the second this year I've heard on investments; each differing in approach but agreeing on the basic problems.

It's interesting to see the shifting pattern of women's interests in many fields. Ten years ago, for instance, a program on money would probably have been on how to spend it. Wisely, that is; any woman can spend it period.

But women's serious interest in investments in something comparatively new, and not necessarily because they've all got so much more money. For instance widows with fixed incomes are feeling the pinch of the diminishing value of the dollar, and "a hedge against inflation" becomes something far more real than a phrase in an economics lecture.

Personally, I'm still depending on that pot of gold at the end of the rainbow.

'Teaching Dollars Cents' Concerns Women, Interest In Banker's Talk Proves

The increasing knowledge and concern which women have about investing money was reflected in the type and quantity of questions which members of the Woman's Club of the Stroudsburg asked yesterday afternoon following the talk on "Teaching Your Dollars Sense" by Christie Shull. An attorney, he is also trustee officer of the Monroe Security Bank and Trust Co.

People save for emergencies, for major purchases, for retirement, for dependents, or for mere acquisitiveness, he pointed out. Ideal investments would take into consideration five major values: Safety, high income return, liquidity, price stability, a hedge against inflation, and one needing no skill to purchase or service.

"Such an investment doesn't exist," he hastened to add, analyzing the major avenues of investment for both their strong and weak points:

Savings
Saving deposits, for instance, require no skill in purchasing or servicing, have a high degree of safety, liquidity, and stability, but have low interest returns and suffer from inflation. Savings and loans have a higher return but are not payable on demand.

U. S. Savings Bonds have small returns and ignore the diminishing purchase power of the dollar which reached its peak in 1944, while fulfilling other requirements. Treasury bonds in general fluctuate in value but provide no hedge against inflation.

Stocks, Bonds, Mortgages
Corporate bonds depend largely on the skill of selection, but are now making the best returns in 30 years.

Mortgages yield a higher than average return but need skill in selection. Real estate is the same, only more so, with a wide variation in degree of liquidity.

Insurance needs some skill in selection, since there are only two major risks which can be insured: Living too long or not long enough. High in safety, with an average yield above 3 per cent, insurance is stable with some liquidity but provides no hedge against inflation.

Stocks at present give the highest money return and are an inflation hedge but require much skill in selecting and in service. They are liquid but have no stability. Mutual funds have grown up which collect a premium to purchase the skills necessary for selecting and servicing stock and are as good or as poor as the skills they offer.

Other Complexities
The problem of measuring individual savings needs against the strengths and weaknesses of different types of investments is further complicated by other factors, Shull pointed out. Among them he listed the age of the investor and his beneficiaries, the amount of money available for investment, tax problems and the condition of the economy and the nation.

In this connection, Shull pointed out that the first time the world has lost confidence in the American dollar because of continued inflationary trends. This is reflected in stocks being priced beyond reason as investors try to hedge against growing inflation.

In view of all this, most people need help, Shull said, adding that local banks have trust of-reich of Windsor, Conn., and right, John Charteris Crandall of Norfolk, Va. A section of one of the new dormitories at the University of Florida is being named Crandall Dormitory in honor of Dr. Crandall. (Vincent April)

Hawaiian Holiday Dance Saturday By Stroud Club

A Hawaiian Holiday Dance, sponsored by the Stroud Community Woman's Club will be held Saturday night in the Penn-Stroud ballroom from 10 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Music will be furnished by Sammy Canovas Orchestra which plays during the summer in the Candlelight Room at Echo Lake Farms.

The ballroom will be transformed into a tropical paradise with native decorations including fish nets, palm trees, sea shells and other reminders of the 50th State. In addition there will be orchid corsages for the ladies and Hawaiian leis for the men. Prizes for novelty dances will be given.

Tickets may be bought in advance from Mrs. Manuel Deas, Mrs. Robert Davenport, Mrs. Neal Rote or Mrs. E. Jay Martin. Table reservations may be made with the chairman, Mrs. Walter Olenick, HA 1-763 or Mrs. Robert Davenport, HA 1-4763.

Young People Bringing Church To Shut-Ins

The Lutheran Youth of Grace Church, East Stroudsburg, conducted services last Sunday night in the Monroe County Home at Kellersville for the 78 guests of the institution. The service was amplified to the entire building in order that the aged upstairs who were bedfast could hear the singing and worship throughout the dormitories and rooms. Participating in the service were: Kay Angle, Belle Blair, Sue Snyder, Sharon Smith, Georgianna Hines, Nancy Elbenberger, Sandra Merrig, Clayton E. Helmbach, Jr. and Lester Doll and 28 teenagers. Rev. William Wunder spoke on the theme "Prayer" and Mrs. Helen Petrovic accompanied the singing.

Highlighting the evening was a visit to the upstairs dormitories to visit the aged. "Happy Birthday" was sung for the County's oldest resident "Mike" who is in his 105th year. The young people presented an offering amounting to almost $8 to Mr. Harold, steward, to buy some surprises and treats for the folks in the home.

Next Sunday night the Lutheran Youth will present a worship service at Laurel Manor Nursing Home in Stroudsburg at 7:30 o'clock at the invitation of Mrs. Beulah Frable, matron. Participating will be Joseph H. Small, Mayor of Stroudsburg, Misses Georgianna Hines and Kay Angle will be in charge of the distributing parts.

Brian Farris, president, extends an invitation to all teen-agers of the parish to meet at the church at 7 o'clock. Transportation will be provided.

College Dance Is Set For The Holidays

Friday, Dec. 29, was set as the date of the annual College Holiday Dance to be held at the Penn-Stroud Hotel at a meeting of interested parents held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank L. Patterson, Glen Brook Road.

Mrs. J. Stewart Swartley, chairman, presided at the meeting which set up the general outline of the dance which will feature a midnight buffet and which is open to all college age young people at a nominal cost.

College students themselves will plan details of the get-together at a meeting to be held on the Friday afternoon of Thanksgiving vacation.

Church Aux. Fills Stockings For Christmas

Delaware Water Gap — Members of the Presbyterian Aux. filled 12 Christmas stockings for the project sponsored by the Monroe Council of United Church Women to be given to the patients at the Allentown State Hospital, at the meeting held at the home of Mrs. C. B. Rosenkrans on Tuesday night.

Reports were given of the Harvest Home at the church on Nov. 5 under the direction of Mrs. H. J. LaBar.

Mrs. Donald Nase, chairman of the mission sewing project, reported that all work had been completed and will be shipped this month. Mrs. Francis Drake, missionary chairman, read a letter from Rev. Robert Bradburn, working in Thailand, and from Mrs. John Sinclair, chair of work in South America.

Mrs. Paul Maxwell and Mrs. Donald Nase were named to the flower committee for the month. The December meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. H. J. LaBar.

Mrs. Rosenkrans served refreshments to Mrs. Henry Kulp, Mrs. Guyton Kamper, Mrs. H. J. LaBar, Mrs. Russell Buzzard, Mrs. Clifford Hauser, Mrs. Donald Nase, Mrs. Francis Drake and Mrs. Harold B. Crossdale.

Brownies Busy At Good Deeds

Delaware Water Gap. The Brownie Troop under the leadership of Mrs. Willard Jennings and Mrs. Robert Richards Sr. have been busy with good deeds. They planted bulbs in front of the Methodist Church and are now working on Thanksgiving favors for patients in the General Hospital.

At their Halloween party, featuring homemade costumes, prizes were won by Grace Ann Bush, prettiest; Peggy Smith, most original; Bonita Smolk, funniest; and Charlene Miller, hardest to identify.

Refreshments were served to Dagmar Matos, Sandra Jennings, Cynthia Carlton, Judy Drake, Susie Smith, Christine Margaretta, Patricia Martin, Dinah Widdoss, Christie Shick, Susan Lundergan, Kathleen Baechtold and their leaders.

Students At Airline School

Two young women from Stroudsburg have been accepted as extension students by the Weaver Airline personnel school. They are Miss Ann Marion Rau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hazel Rau, and the late Mr. Rau, 91 North First St., Stroudsburg, and Miss Claudia Pusateri, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Pusateri, 617 North Fifth St., Stroudsburg.

When they have completed preliminary assignments and met the grade standards as required by the school they will enter terminal resident school for specialized training in Kansas City, Mo.

Church School Officers Installed

The newly-elected officers of Grace Lutheran Church School, East Stroudsburg, were officially installed into their respective offices last Sunday morning during the church school hour.

Installed were H. L. Cleveland, John J. Peniz, Jr. and James P. Shesley, superintendents; George Menseh Jr., treasurer; Clifford R. Kintner, secretary; and Stanley Melvin, assistant secretary.

Joseph H. Small, mayor of Stroudsburg and past-superintendent of the school; participated with Pastor Wunder in the installation. Dr. Malach Sloan, M. D., spoke briefly having also served as a superintendent of Grace Church School more than 20 years ago prior to his moving to the mid-west. More than 300 were present for the service.

★FOR YOUR MONEY . . .

A way to your "Honey's" heart is thru his stomach . . . and WIRT D. MILLER GROCER, 726 Main Street, Stroudsburg, has some devastating "ammunition" for that type of approach . . . and destined for a direct "hit". Some sweet examples are:

New Pack Strained Buck Head Honey absolutely delicious to what ever you might choose to use it with. And 49c a jar is a small investment for the huge eating pleasure it brings for many a meal . . . yes, you can still get that good old fashioned comb honey that has satisfied many a sweet tooth for centuries and still at a nominal price of 65c a pkg.

For the people who still know of and use that old faithful sore throat and cough remedy, Wirt D. Miller's Grocery has Honey and Vinegar in generous sized jar for only 59c.

Have you been in to WIRT D. MILLER'S, 726 Main Street, lately?

Gales Slash Italian Coast

ROME (AP) — Gales sent violent rain squalls slashing across Italy's western coast Sunday, flooding many homes.

No deaths or serious injuries were reported. Gusts swept three huge jet airliners back on their tails at Fiumicino airport near Rome, but they were undamaged. Incoming air traffic was directed to other fields during the night.

A wide area around Ostia, popular seacoast resort for Romans, was flooded and the few year-round inhabitants there had to be evacuated by police.

PP&L First To Install Machine Which 'Reads'

PENNSYLVANIA Power & Light Company yesterday became the first company in the world to install a machine which "reads" conventional printed or typed information and enters it directly into an electronic computer...

The IBM 1418 Optical Character Reader, or "scanner," will read up to 480 numerical characters per second—as well as marks recorded in ordinary ink or pencil. Along with other electric equipment, it will be used initially in the high-speed processing of customers' bills and customer payment information.

The optical scanner will be an important part of the utility's new and ultramodern Computer Center. Heart of the new Center is a large-scale IBM 7070 transistorized computer. Four smaller computers, IBM 1401s, are also part of the Center.

Development of the new Computer Center is regarded as a substantial step forward by the local utility, long a leader in electronic accounting procedures. Planning is now under way to use the new management "tools" of the Center to provide new methods of cost control, to audit the performance of facilities, to solve operating and engineering problems and in other important areas which will result in new efficiencies to improve the utility's operations.

Development by IBM of its 1418 Optical Character Reader fulfills a long-sought objective of data processing designers and planners. As methods and concepts of high-speed, automatic data processing developed, it became more apparent that a major accomplishment in this field would be the development of a device which, like the human eye, could read printed or written numbers.

A distinguishing feature of the "1418" is its ability to read numerical data printed in "normal" numbers—rather than specially designed figures—from either paper or card forms.

The 1418 is also equipped to read vertical markings, made with ordinary pencil or dark inks which represent specific information determined by the format of the document. PP&L will use this feature to read information recorded by the Company's meter readers. Bill stubs returned with the customer's returned with the customer's the computer to update accounts.

ESSC Accepts National Soccer Bid

Championship Play Will Begin Nov. 24; Is First In History

By CURT PRINS
Daily Record
Sports Editor

EAST STROUDSBURG State College has accepted a bid to play in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics national soccer championship, as an at-large entry.

The invitation was extended to East Stroudsburg Monday morning after New England College of Henniker, N. H., was ruled ineligible for the tournament.

New England College is an associate member of NAIA and the associate members are not eligible for post season championships. The NAIA lists an associate member as a school that does not have full academic accreditation.

East Stroudsburg is a member of the Middle Atlantic section of the NAIA but was not selected from that district.

Howard Univ., of Washington, D. C., will represent the Middle Atlantic. Howard has a 9-0-1 record with a game against Georgetown Univ., also of Washington, D. C. left on its schedule.

Season Is Over

East Stroudsburg closed its season Saturday with a 4-0 win over Elizabethtown, N. J., last year's NAIA co-champion. The Warriors compiled a 9 and 2 record.

Four teams will be selected to participate in the two-day tournament at Lock Haven State College beginning Nov. 24.

The teams were originally to be selected from the four geographical areas of the NAIA. However, New England was the only school that expressed interest in representing its district. East Stroudsburg will take New England's place but C. A. Morehouse, of Lock Haven, local District Two, NAIA soccer representative, said East Stroudsburg will be listed as an at-large entry rather than the New England area representative.

Will Select 2 More

Howard and East Stroudsburg are the only teams that have been selected. They will meet in a 1 p.m. game on Nov. 24, a Friday. The winner of that game will play for the national championship.

Morehouse said there are six teams still being considered for the other two berths.

The Midwestern district teams in contention are Earlham, College of Indiana and Tabor College of Kansas. Earlier this season, Earlham beat Tabor handing the school its first loss in 24 games.

There is a four-way fight for the New York, New Jersey berth. Newark College of Engineering, Pratt, Albany State and Jersey City State are being considered.

Morehouse said the four teams will hold a playoff to select the district representative. Newark was an NAIA co-champion and one of the teams to beat East Stroudsburg this year. Newark beat the Warriors 2 to 1 in overtime.

West Chester dumped the Warriors by the same score.

West Chester will probably compete in another national tournament.

First Time

It is the first time that an East Stroudsburg team has participated in a national soccer tournament. It will also be the first tournament appearance in 15 years of college coaching for East Stroudsburg's John Eller. Eller received the bid from Morehouse Monday morning but did not accept it until the tournament trip was approved by East Stroudsburg president Dr. LeRoy J. Koehler.

Eller said his team will leave for the tournament Thanksgiving afternoon.

Hoffman Hits 639 In DV Loop

THEODORE Hoffman was the only Crowe bowler to find the secret to the low scoring alleys at Oakwood Lanes, Washington, N. J., Saturday night.

With Hoffman's 236-224-639 gave the local team a split with their opponents, Al Palmer had 535 for the home club. Next week Crowe's draw a bye and will resume action again the following week at Ritz Bowl, Bethlehem.

Mets Agree On Two Minor Clubs

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Mets Monday announced working agreements with two minor league baseball clubs.

The new National League club signed to work with Durham, N.C., in the Class B Carolina League and Auburn, N.Y., in the Class D New York-Pennsylvania League. Auburn previously was associated with the New York Yankees.

The Mets previously had signed an agreement with Syracuse in the International League.

Brussels Match

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) — Scotland and Czechoslovakia Monday agreed to play their decisive World Soccer Cup qualifying match in Brussels Nov. 29.

The match will decide which team goes to Chile for the World Cup final next year.

Cavalier JVs 19-0 To Pocono Mtn.

POCONO MTN. High formed a tight corridor around the East Stroudsburg junior gridder yesterday then went on to pound out a 19-0 win on the losers field.

Pocono Mt. romped to a single tally in the third quarter and two more in the last to sew up the win. It was their third victory in four decisions.

Halfback Jerry Hanna pushed the visitors ahead as he scampered 15 yards for a touchdown in the third. In the final frame, QB Tom Battisto and end Stu Kreck teamed up to complete a 25-yard pass play for the second TD.

Battisto added the last tally during a keep play and ground-out 20 yards to paydirt.

Tom Derrick counted for the extra point.

It was the final game for the young Cavaliers this season. They compiled a record of 4 wins and 5 losses.

Kelso To Rest After Injury On Saturday

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — Kelso came out of Saturday's International Horse Race with sprains of front and hind legs and will compete no more this year, trainer Carl Hanford said Monday.

"The harts are not serious and X-ray pictures show no fractures," Hanford said. "It is possible that he would be able to run in next Saturday's Gallant Fox at Aqueduct."

But both he and Mrs. Richard C. du Pont, owner of the 4-year-old gelding, "believe it not best to take any chances," the trainer reported.

Kelso will be shipped to the farm owned by Mrs. Du Pont at Chesapeake City, Md., and later to winter quarters at Aiken, S.C.

Hanford said he may return Kelso to the race tracks next January at Hialeah. Since Kelso cannot be used for breeding, Mrs. Du Pont either will have to race him or make him an idle pensioner. He has lifetime earnings to date of $722,255.

Hanford declined to use Kelso's sprains as an excuse for his three-quarter length loss to T.V. Lark in the International.

"I would like to emphasize we're not offering the injuries as an alibi for Kelso's loss," the trainer said. "Kelso ran a terrific race and so did T.V. Lark, only

Purdue, Syracuse Join AP Top 10; Texas Still First

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The unbeaten Texas Longhorns maintained their commanding lead in the weekly Associated Press college football poll Monday while Purdue and Syracuse moved into the top ten.

The Longhorns, 33-7 victors over Baylor Saturday for their eighth straight triumph, were named the leading team by 41 of the 47 sports writers and sportscasters on the committee.

Club Bear To Death

Texas U. Pranksters Admit Killing Baylor's Mascot

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Eight University of Texas pranksters confessed Monday they clubbed Baylor University's mascot bear Ginger to death during a kidnap plot.

The Baylor Chamber of Commerce promised to press charges against those who took the 9-month-old female cub from its cage on the Baylor campus at Waco, 100 miles north of Austin, Thursday night.

This morning an attorney, acting as spokesman for the eight, told Dean of Student Life Arno Nowotny about the bear's kidnaping and death.

Nowotny listened behind closed doors, then referred the matter to the special group that handles university discipline. The dean said he would not reveal the names of the eight involved.

Dean's Account

Here's the dean's account: The eight decided Thursday to kidnap one of Baylor's two cub mascots—an almost annual plot by one or another of the Southwest Conference schools.

Football spirit was high on both campuses as Baylor challenged Texas' No. 1 national football ranking.

The students broke the lock to the Baylor bear pit and enticed Ginger outside and put a chain on her. They avoided her more troublesome twin, Pepper.

The kidnap plot was perfect until one of the collegians and Ginger tried to climb a fence together. Both became tangled in the chain. Ginger became angry and the boys panicked.

"They hit Ginger over the head with a wrench to calm her down. The blow killed her," Nowotny said.

Ginger's body was buried near Waco. The next day the students consulted the attorney.

Pepper appeared at Saturday's game, growling and seemingly more upset than usual. The Baylor Bears lost 33-7.

Is Tied In Final Game

CLINCHES TITLE

Meanwhile, John Harris of Harrisburg clinched the Central Penn Conference title—its first undisputed crown in the big league's history—when it edged neighboring Steelton-Highspire, 12-7, Saturday.

Radnor wrapped up the Suburban 3 title—and its 11th straight victory—when it downed Sun Valley, 27-0, the same day.

Darby—which three weeks ago halted the state's current longest winning streak by beating Clifton Heights—won the Suburban 4 title held last year by Clifton Heights when it topped Collingdale, 40-21.

Haverford School and Malvern finished their Philadelphia Inter-Academic League seasons as co-champions.

And the Philadelphia Catholic League race ended in a two-way tie when LaSalle and Monsignor Bonner both won their wind-up games while West Catholic was being tied by Cardinal Dougherty. LaSalle and Bonner will play off for the league title and a berth in the city championship game against the Public League winner, still unsettled.

Play Deadlock

Carlisle and Chambersburg tied for the final South Penn title when they played to a deadlock (12-12) Friday and Palmyra and Middletown wound up co-champions of the Capital Area Conference, the two-year-old league whose formation contributed much to the demise of the South Penn.

Lock Haven claimed both the West Penn Class A and Susquehanna Conference Valley and Hazleton and Coal Twp. tied for the Keystone title.

Punxsutawney's victory over Dubois, 20-0, gave it the best percentage in the brand-new Skyline Conference.

Solomons Out To Plan Fight

LONDON (AP)—Jack Solomons, British boxing promoter, said Monday he will leave for Sao Paulo, Brazil, Nov. 13 to make final plans for world bantamweight title fight between Irishman John Caldwell and Brazil's Eder Jofre.

Solomons plans to put on the Caldwell-Jofre fight in the second or third week in January. Caldwell is recognized as world champion in Europe and Jofre in most parts of America.

Alabama, which clobbered Richmond 66-0, remained in second place, followed by Ohio State, Louisiana State and Minnesota.

There were no changes among the first five, but there was some wholesale shifting in the next five, except for Colorado, which held onto the No. 8 spot.

Miss Moves Up

Mississippi, 54-0 winner over Chattanooga, advanced one place to sixth, Purdue's 7-6 conquest of Michigan State resulted in two changes, the Boilermakers moving into seventh place and the Spartans dropping from sixth to ninth. Syracuse defeated Colgate 51-8 for its third in a row and climbed from the also-rans to 10th position.

Georgia Tech, which lost to Tennessee 10-6, and Missouri, beaten by Oklahoma 7-0, dropped out of the first ten.

Ohio State, LSU and Minnesota scored victories over the weekend. The Buckeyes beat Indiana 16-7, LSU defeated North Carolina 30-0 and Minnesota tied with Ohio State for the Big Ten lead, upended Iowa 16-9. Colorado's hopes for its first unbeaten season since 1937 ended as it lost to Utah 21-12.

Texas collected 463 points on a basis of 10 for a first-place vote, 9 for second, etc. Alabama had 401 points, Ohio State 365, LSU 365 and Minnesota 307. Alabama had three votes for first place, Ohio State two and LSU one.

Unbeaten, Untied

Texas and Alabama are the only unbeaten-untied teams among the leaders. The Crimson Tide is also 8-0. Ohio State, tied by TCU in its opener, has won its last six.

In the only meeting between teams in the first ten this Saturday, Purdue (5-2) is at Minnesota (6-1). Texas takes on TCU (2-4-1). Alabama meets Georgia Tech 6-2. Ohio State faces Oregon (4-4). LSU (7-1) goes against Mississippi State (5-3). Mississippi (7-1) plays Tennessee (4-3). Colorado (6-1) is at Nebraska (3-4-1). Michigan State (5-2) is host to Northwestern (4-3) and Syracuse (6-2) is at Notre Dame (4-3).

The top teams with season records and first place votes in parentheses, and total points:

1. Texas (41) (8-0) 463
2. Alabama (3) (8-0) 401
3. Ohio State (2) (6-0-1) 365
4. Louisiana State (1) (7-1) 336
5. Minnesota (6-1) 334
6. Mississippi (7-1) 324
7. Purdue (5-2) 307
8. Colorado (6-1) 61
9. Michigan State (5-2) 60
10. Syracuse (6-2) 47

Others receiving votes: Missouri, Georgia Tech, Maryland, Arkansas, UCLA, Kansas, Rutgers, Utah State, Duke, Wyoming, Utah, Michigan, Iowa, Notre Dame and Arizona.

PART OF THE TEAM—While many eyes were on the East Stroudsburg High Cavaliers as they rolled to their eighth win on Saturday, some were also on Miss Christine Berger. Miss Berger continued to perform as she had done throughout the season. East Stroudsburg sports an 8-1 record with only traditional Turkey Day game with Stroud Union to be played. After Tokyo Bout

Moore Retains 'Feather' Title

TOKYO (AP) — Davey Moore refused to go down again and was fighting back at the final bell.

There was no doubt about the decision. Referee Jimmy Wilson of Los Angeles scored it for Moore 73-59. Judge Tony Macerotti of Providence, R.I., a representative of the National Boxing Association, scored it 72-64, and Judge Haruo Ishiwatari of Japan had it 74-67. The Associated Press card was 72-62 in favor of Moore.

It was Moore's fourth defense of the crown he won from Hogan (Kid) Bassey, March 18, 1959. One of his previous victims was Takayama, whom he outpointed last Aug. 29 in Tokyo.

Moore weighed 126, the class limit, to Takayama's 125½ pounds. A packed house of 10,000, more than half sitting cross-legged on Japanese straw mats, and a nationwide TV audience saw the Japanese boxer confuse Moore in the early rounds.

Moore caught up with his opponent in the 13th when he landed a hard left to the jaw and followed with a tremendous right to the head. Takayama went down but bounced up quickly and took the rest of the nine-count on his feet. However, he was dazed and the bell saved him.

Oilers Rap Kuharick In Ditka Deal

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — A comparative score makes West Chester a heavy favorite to defeat Slippery Rock for the championship of the Pennsylvania State Colleges Football Conference.

The sectional champs clash Saturday at West Chester.

West Chester has been given the edge by virtue of the 51-20 whipping it gave Clarion. Slippery Rock squeezed by Clarion 20-13 in a come-from-behind effort last Saturday.

West Chester and Slippery Rock have identical season records—six wins and two losses.

West Chester won the title the past two years.

The final standings of the season:

Western Division

Celtic Chief Is Suspended For 3 Games

Bowling Highlights

NEW YORK (AP) — Fiery Red Auerbach, coach of the Boston Celtics, was handed a three-game suspension Monday because of his clashes with National Basketball Association referees. Auerbach charged the referees were "out to get me."

Maurice Podoloff, NBA president, announced the suspension from his headquarters and apologized for not making it sooner. "I was out of town over the weekend and couldn't take action," he said.

Podoloff ordered Auerbach barred from Boston's next three games—Tuesday night in St. Louis, Nov. 16, in Cincinnati and Nov. 17 in New York.

The NBA executive said the action was taken because of Auerbach's ejection from the Boston-Philadelphia game Saturday in Boston. He was thumped out by Referee Norman Drucker.

Tossed Out

The Boston coach had been tossed out of a game between Detroit and Boston in Philadelphia the previous Thursday by rookie Referee Joe Gushue.

After that incident, Auerbach was fined $200 by the NBA and warned that a similar offense would result in a suspension.

Auerbach was on the bench Sunday night when the Celtics beat the Chicago Packers in Chicago 112-96. The Packers announced they were playing the game under protest.

Auerbach said his ejection in the Boston game Saturday night was unjustified.

He said the Philadelphia bench was yelling and that the game had to be stopped while the referees warned them. Then, he said, he himself yelled something to the referee and immediately drew a technical foul.

"I was so mad, as much for being suckered into this as anything, and sort of stood up and slammed my program to the floor behind the bench," he added. "That's when he (Drucker) threw me out—and then, of course, I said plenty."

Auerbach said: "You know perfectly well any time a referee wants to look for trouble or provoke it, he can."

Drucker was not available immediately for comment.

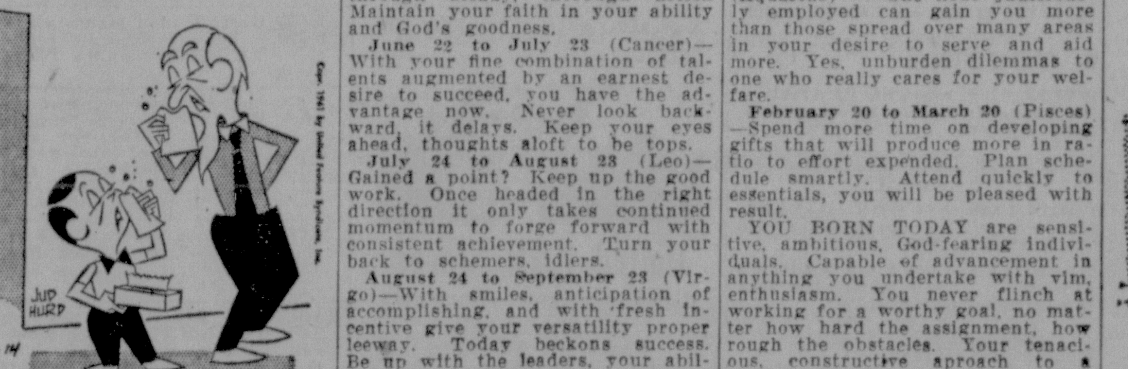

Russian Wins Soccer Berth

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—Russia defeated Turkey 2-1 Sunday and won a berth in the World Soccer Championship in Chile next spring. All goals were scored in the first half. The Russians, with six points to four for the Turks, needed only a tie to get their ticket for Chile.

Reports May Backfire

By William A. Doyle

Q. There is an adage that "the market never discounts the same news twice." Then, what happened to McNeil Machine & Engineering? A number of brokerage houses wrote very favorable reports about this company. All these reports stated the company would show lower earnings this year than in 1960 but that its growth pattern would resume in the future.

I bought 100 shares of this stock at $43 a share. The stock had been higher earlier this year. Then, the earnings report was published and the stock went way down—again. How can this happen.

A. My dictionary defines adage as "...a saying, saw, maxim, proverb or motto which has obtained credit through long use. But it does not state that all adages are reliable.

Many adages have been coined in the financial district. They make interesting conversation or reading. But, very often, they backfire. You found that out. The adage you quote means simply that the price of stocks in general or one stock in particular is supposed to respond to a certain bit of news only once.

In the case of McNeil Machine & Engineering, the word got around that the company's profits this year are not expected to be as high as they were last year. This information wasn't exactly a secret.

This took some of the bloom of popularity away from the company's stock. As a result, the bit, it had sold as high as $47 a share earlier this year.

In the terminology of the world of finance "the market was discounting the news of lower earnings, even before the news was officially announced. The market price of McNeil Machine & Engineering stock continued to decline after you bought at $43 a share.

Then, when the earnings for the six months ended June 30 were announced, the price of the stock dipped some more. Those earnings, equal to $1.31 a share for the six months, were evidently lower than many people had expected.

You see, no matter what your adage says, the market can discount the same news twice. The market price of this stock dropped as low as $30 a share. It has since recovered some of that loss. It is still considered a long-term growth situation.

But this should teach you not to put faith (and your money) into "adages."

Q. I would like to invest about $1,000 in a certain mutual fund. This fund has a very good record.

As you have suggested, I have read the prospectus put out by this fund very carefully. I am convinced that this would be a good investment for me—except for one thing.

I do not recognize the same name of any one of the men on the board of directors of this fund. Many other mutual funds have famous men as directors—retired generals and admirals, college presidents, etc. Should I stay away from this fund, which has no "big names" with it?

A. Not if that's your only reason for staying away. If the mutual fund has investment policies and investment aims that appeal to you, you have a good record of accomplishing those aims, it would be plain silly to stay away from it—just because you don't recognize the names of any of its directors.

"Famous" is a tricky word. Someone you have never heard of may be very famous in the world of finance. And some little-known directors may do better job than "big names," who are not much more than "window-dressing."

East Stroudsburg Elks Set To Aid Handicapped Vets

EAST Stroudsburg Elks Lodge 319 will participate in a nationwide Elks' card for the handicapped campaign all this month. Exalted Ruler Samuel Zaccaro announced yesterday.

The campaign, in which 2,000 lodges will collect used decks of playing cards for Veterans Administration hospitals, and other handicapped persons, is under the direction of the Elks National Service Commission. Braille cards, for the blind will be made up and distributed at a later date.

The commission conducts a year-round program of recreation and entertainment for patients in the country's 172 VA hospitals.

Persons wishing to contribute their old playing cards may leave them at the following places, in Stroudsburg—Scavo's Barber Shop; East Stroudsburg Speed Boys and Courtland Beverage Co.; Mt. Pocono—Powlett's Brown Jug.

6-Month Leave Every 7 Years

LONDON (AP)—A British union leader suggests people contending with new equipment and techniques in modern industrial life should get six months off the job every seven years—a three-month vacation and then three months in another line of work.

Clive Jenkins, general secretary of the Association of Supervisory Staffs, Executives and Technicians, said Sunday he intends to put his plan before an advisory committee of the union.

"There is a terrible strain," Jenkins said, "on people like aircraft technicians, electronics engineers, inspection and development staffs. . . we want our members not only to earn more money but to live long enough to enjoy it."

Many Cases In Superior Court

PITTSBURGH (AP)—One hundred cases were listed for argument as the Pennsylvania Superior Court began its fall session for the western district Monday.

The court is expected to sit through this week. Many of the cases to be heard are appeals from decisions of the Unemployment Compensation Board of Review.

President Judge Chester H. Rhodes of Stroudsburg was not present, remaining at his home. Judge Harold L. Ervin presided.

Dear Abby

Dear Abby: In our class at school we got into a big discussion about "fattening" and we would like to know how you feel about the subject. Thank you.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS

Dear Students: For some reason, teachers and even parents teach young people that it is "unethical" or downright disgraceful for one child to tell someone in authority that another child has disobeyed, misbehaved or even broken the law. Is it any wonder we have hoodlums and vandals who count it a virtue not to "squeal"?

This is not to be confused with running to Mamma or the teacher with, "Johnny hit me!" If children are to grow up with a sense of civic duty, they cannot be taught that it is "noble" to remain silent when they know who has destroyed public property or committed other serious anti-social acts. (It is their parents who must pay for such deeds.) Also it is unfair that a guilty child should "get by" unpunished; the next time he will try something a little bolder. I think it is time we adults reviewed our attitude on "fattening."

Dear Abby: When my husband and I rented this apartment, we specifically asked if we could keep our dog with us. The landlord said, "Yes, if the dog is quiet and well-behaved." Our dog is quiet and well-behaved, unless a stranger comes around. We have been here less than a month and the landlord tells us we can't keep our dog. He said, "You have a full-grown boxer, and to me a boxer is not a dog, but a 'pony'."

We signed a year's lease and like this place. Can he make us move? And is a boxer a dog or a horse? JUST MOVED IN

Dear Just: If your boxer raises Ned whenever a "stranger" comes around, he is being far from "quiet and well-behaved." You don't need a dictionary, you need a lawyer.

Dear Abby: I am amused by some of the women who write to you and ask your help to get them a man. I am an unmarried man, alone, retired and live in my own home on a lake—rather secluded—and have ample income for two. I have placed blind ads in papers and magazines and have answered others—61 to be exact. I have visited their miserable apartments and have yet to find a lady who will live more than four blocks from a bus line.

CRIOCERAS EMERICIANUM?

A Criorceras emericianum is a highly organized invertebrate marine animal having a horny, circular shell.

The study of marine life as a part of zoology is important in tracing the development of all living creatures including man. From it may come a fuller understanding of our own bodily structure. Unfortunately many potential scientists may never pursue this science because they may never go to college. Already many colleges are overcrowded and in 10 years applications will double. We will need more and better college laboratories and thousands more of the highest quality professors.
